Patient Consent Form

Today you will be undergoing a Pulmonary Function Test (PFT) in our office. A trained technician will put you through a series of 5 tests that will give the physician a true assessment of your absolute lung volumes.

These tests are carried out with as little inconvenience as possible to the patient, however, a patient may at times feel light headed, dizzy, short of breath or even faint. If you experience any of these symptoms you must immediately tell the technician so the test may be stopped until you are able to proceed.
